

HUMPED GORGET FOUND IN HARDIN COUNTY

by Joe Green
Kenton, OH

Shown is a fine humped gorget of the Glacial Kame culture. It was found in 2008 by then nine year old Levi Yoder, son of Abe Yoder, while picking up rocks on their family farm southwest of Kenton, Hardin County, Ohio. It is made of banded slate with a distinct light streak through it. It is slightly more than 4 1/2 inches long.

Figure 1 (Green) Glacial Kame gorget found in Hardin County.

PLANO SITE IN MARION COUNTY

by Ray Jordan
1400 Plantation Dr.
Marion, OH

Shown are Plano points from a site in Marion County which I have surface hunted for several years. As may be seen from the picture, many of these points were probably broken during hunting activities by the Plano people, the remaining pieces being discarded on the site. As is customary on sites of this culture, most of their projectile points were broken.

Figure 1
(Jordan) Collection of Plano points from a Marion County Site.